

Elena (Yi-Ying) Chiang

London, UK | elena.yychiang@gmail.com

LinkedIn | GitHub | Portfolio

Computer Science conversion MSc graduate with Distinction, changing careers from retail and events. Project experience with React, Tailwind CSS and Django, alongside practical experience coordinating teams and resolving operational problems. Seeking a junior software engineering role in London or remote within the UK.

Education

|                                                                                          |                     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| MSc Computer Science (Conversion), DistinctionQueen Mary University of London | Sep 2024 - Sep 2025 |
| MSc Events Management, MeritBournemouth University                            | Jan 2019 - Mar 2021 |
| BA Taiwanese Literature and Mass CommunicationProvidence University, Taiwan   | Sep 2009 - Jun 2013 |

Skills

Frontend project exposure: React, JavaScript, HTML, CSS, Tailwind CSS and responsive web interfaces
Backend and data exposure: Python, Django REST Framework, REST APIs and PostgreSQL
Project tools and practices: Git/GitHub, Vite, Postman, manual and functional testing | Learning: TypeScript and JavaScript unit testing

Projects

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|
| LevelUp: Gamified Productivity Web Applevelup-jet.vercel.app   React, Tailwind CSS, Django REST Framework, PostgreSQL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | MSc project, 2025 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Completed LevelUp as an MSc project with substantial AI assistance; the application connects a React interface to a Django REST API.</li><li>The application combines task management with XP, level and attribute displays that update when a task is completed.</li><li>The project included formative testing with 8 participants, with feedback informing changes to quest timing and the interface layout.</li></ul> |                   |

Work Experience

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| Sales Associate, then Key Holder / Sales Specialist   VF Corporation, London                                                                                                                             | Oct 2024 - present             |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Lead daily shifts, coordinate team coverage and priorities, and resolve operational and customer issues. Coach colleagues to maintain service standards.</li></ul>        |                                |
| Sales Associate   Skechers, London                                                                                                                                                                       | Mar 2022 - Aug 2023            |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Awarded London District MVP for customer service and issue resolution; supported onboarding and day-to-day store operations.</li></ul>                                    |                                |
| Livestream &amp; Social Media Coordinator   Tomsu, Taiwan                                                                                                                                                | Apr - Aug 2021; Mar - Aug 2024 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Coordinated livestream delivery across teams in Taiwan and South Korea, including run-of-show execution, livestream system setup and real-time troubleshooting.</li></ul> |                                |

Additional Information

Mandarin Chinese: native | English: fluent | Contractual notice: one month
UK Graduate visa valid until 22 January 2028; no sponsorship required to start.